St. Lenis to Colerado via Wichita.
Commencing Sunday, July 13,1890, the Missouri Pacific railway will run through sleeping cars from St. Louis via Plensant Hill, Rich Hill, Fort Scott and Wichita to Geneseo and from thence to Pueblo, Colorado Springs and Denver. This change was made on account of a great many people from the east going to Colorado being desirous of going via Wichita. The train will stop here two hours, giving all a chance to view the "Peerless Princess" and still land passengers in Colorado same time as if they had gone via Kansas City. It also gives the critzens of Wichita sleeping car service from here to Colorado. Returning, it gives us through sleeping car service Wichita toSt. Louis, and gives the Colorado people a chance to go east via Colorado people a chance to go east via Wichita. This change will undoubtedly be appreciated by the traveling public, and especially by the citizens of Wichita. If you are going east or west go via the pop-ular new through route. Through chair and sleeping car service. New route just completed between Fort Scott and Rich Hill goes through the finest mineral and agracultural country in the west. Don't forget the new short line to St. Louis or

That this is very remarkable all admit, but the following, by an author of repute, oppears almost past belief, yet is generally that bounds will, on really good scenting lays, carry as good a head, and run as unerringly lifty yards down wind of the line, as they can when following in the actual track, showing that scent can be diffused over a very considerable space of ground; and instances there are-rare, but well uthenticated-where hounds have been said on to a spot where the fex has been een to pass, and have failed to show even an indication of feathering, yet, on being rought back to the same place after an interval of five or ten minutes, have taken up the line and gone away at score, though it was absolutely impossible that a fresh-taint could have been left; thus making it appear that scent may be held in suspense, r rise for a short period above the reach of hounds' olfactories, and then settle down again."-J. N. Hallock in Christian at

A celestial phenomenon in the way of an nusually large meteor was seen a few nties south of this city recently. It crossed be beavens from east to west and apparently fell in the Tucson mountains west of the old San Xavier church. It was as large as a half bushel measure and left a uminous track in its course. The Indians were much excited and filled with fear, for, said they. "It is an evil omen and God is about to visit our earth with dire calamities, disease and great famine," and "unless we pay some money into the church (meaning the Catholic church) there will be great suffering among us."

A curious phenomenen is reported by the United States consul at Maracalbo, Venezuela. Near the Rio de Orre, at he base of the Sierra of the Colombian frontier, there is a herizontal cavern, which from time to time ejects huge clobules of bitumen, that explode like combabells with considerable noise, and the pitch, forming a black glacier, runs into a kind of pool or lake near the river

AMBER AND CRYSTALS.

INTERESTING FACTS ABOUT THESE CURIOUS SUBSTANCES.

Working Amber Is a Very Ancient Business-It Is Found Only in Europe. Queer Old Roman Ideas About Crystal. Nero's Valuable Cups.

"Amber is curious stuff," said a collector of curios the other day. "It is only comparatively recently that its nature has been known, and even at this day very few people seem to have any notion as to what it is in reality. The ancients regarded it as altogether mysterious and even magical. They found that it was rendered electrical by friction so as to attract light substances, and our word 'electricity' comes from the Greek name for amber, which was 'electron.' A favorite puzzle with them was how the insects so frequently found in amber became to be so situated.

"I have myself seen a chunk of very transparent amber in which a small lizard with five legs was incased, looking as if it might have been alive yesterday, though, doubtless, it had been dead for thousands of years. The mystery regarding this sort of phenomenon is easily enough explained when it is understood that amber is actually the fessil gum of an extinct kind of come bearing tree. In the process of hard-ening it imprisoned the flies and other creatures preserved in the chunks of it that are found today. It is discovered plentifully by digging in certain parts of the great plains of north Germany, where the strange tree once flourished.

"It is also found in considerable quantities along the shores of the Baltic, in the yellow sandstone. At Palmicken, in east Prussia, it is dug in regular mines; elsewhere it is picked from cliffs, and a good deal of it is gathered in the shape of nodnies cast up by the waves. The finest specimen of amber in Europe is a cup made of that material now at the Brighton museum, England. It was found at Hove some years ago, together with weapons and utensils of stone and bronze, so it is evidently very ancient indeed.

In the Fourteenth century, and before amber was made into knives and forks with one prong, which were used by princes and church dignitaries, it was more valuable than gold. Now it is worth from $2 to $50 a pound, according to its quality. The most important use made of it is for meerschaum and other pipes."
BEAUTIFUL CRYSTALS.

"What a very beautiful sphere of crystal this is" said the newspaper man, taking in his hand a cool globe that looked like a huge dewdrop, which the collector handed him for examination "Yes, that is a pressy specimen. I suppose you are aware of the theory enter-tained by the ancients regarding such rock crystal. They thought it was actually ice frozen to great density by duration of time, congealed beyond liquidation. 'Krystallos' in Greek means ice.' The famous writer on natural philosophy, Pliny, who wrote more facts that were not true than ever any man collected together before or since, says the crystal is undoubtedly water frozen by cold so intense that nothing can FOR RENT - NICELY PURSISHED HORSES for central modern conveniences. 40 N Lomelt it again. Roman ladies of that time were accustomed to carry such suberes as this one in their hands during hot weather "It was the thing, also, to have the material worked into wine jugs and other vessels. Nero had two drinking cups of erystal worth $3,000 each, and a crystal ladle also; but when he learned that he had lost his kingdom he broke them, lest they fall into the hands of any one eise. A. crystal lens was employed in Rome to kindle the sacred vestal fire. Great care was taken not to put the crystal ware in a warm place for fear that it would melt. The most remarkable discovery of crystal on record was made in the above the Tiefen gincier by a party of tourists, a single cave in the granite yielding 1,000 crystals of from 50 to 100 pounds weight."

"And what is this?"

PHABLS AND PEARL DIVERS. "That," replied the collector, "is a diminutive Chinese god, covered with a coasof pearl by a real pearl eyster. On such parts of the coast of the Flowery Kingdom as produce pearl oysters a regular business is often made of manufacturing pearls ar tificially by introducing into the shells of the live cysters foreign objects of various kinds. You doubtless know that the pearl is a morbid symptom in the biraive. grain of saud or some such substance getting into the eyster preduces irritation, and the animal protects itself by covering the objectionable particls with coating after coating of its own penriy secretion. The interruption of light by the successive coats of which the pearl is formed in this way gives it its beautiful luster. Taking advantage of this babit of the pearl cyster. the ingenious Chinaman pries it gently open and puts in whatever he likes, maybe a little figure of a god like this. The syster goes to work and covers it with pearl, until after a few months, the idol is a peurl idol It is worth mentioning incidentally that sharks are by no means such a ferror to pearl divers as is commonly supposed. It is true that now and then a diver does get gobbled, but for every such human victim. hundreds of sharks are killed by the divers Pearl divers in the Torres straits are not one-twentieth part so much afraid of the tiger shorks which are evaruing there as of the giant molluck at the bottom, six feet or more across its shell, which lies with extended jaws, as if waiting for the unfor-tunate fisherman to drep into them. The victim, dropping out of his beat into the depths with a heavy stone attached to his feet, brings his leg into contact with the mantle of the bugs mollusk, which closes upon the limb with one tremendous lite. Only one thing then remains for the diver to do, namely—amputate the limb with his own knife, because the mighty biralve's jaws are clasped together with a tenacity that would take several horse power to loosen, and it is anchored to the bettern

The Work of an Assults. A phenomenon is reported from Toth

Aradacz, in Hungary, where an aerolite of eighty pounds weight is said to have fallen with such force that it spened a spring of water in the earth. As the neighborhood was badly supplied with water the inhalitante are talking of the occurrence as providential. The aerolite has been purchased for $1,000 by an Anglo-Australian who has a collection of such things, and who hap-pened to be the guest of Count Harmscourt, whose seat is near Tuth-Aradaca.-Did Nedgwick block | New Orleans Picayuna
